Devices/Software Applications

Have worked in tandem with Drs. Jason Reichenberg (Dermatology) and James 2014-present Tunnell (Biomedical Engineering) to develop and test a spectral imaging device as applied in defining margins during Mohs micrographic surgery.

Advised Dr. James Allred as he developed novel technology including ringless needle 2013-2015 driver and depth-guided saucerization devices for use in dermatologic surgery. Work led to commercialization of product.
